

RE: RECOGNITION OF QUALIFICATIONS – COMPENSATION MEASURE REQUIRED (DECISION LETTER)

28/01/2026

Dear Sreya Vallattu Satheesan

Date of Birth: 16/06/1998

Unique ID: APP-06130126-90572

Thank you for your application to the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Ireland (NMBI).

We are pleased to inform you that you are progressing to becoming a Registered Nurse/Midwife in Ireland. If you follow the advice below and successfully complete either an aptitude test, or a period of adaptation, you will be eligible to apply for Registration with NMBI.

We have assessed your application against the standards and criteria necessary for recognition of qualification(s) in the General Nurses in Ireland. Shortfalls have been identified in your qualifications against the approved standards as set out in a Directive of the European Union. In order for you to practice as a Registered Nurse in Ireland, you are required to successfully complete a compensation measure before your qualifications can be recognised.

This is required for the following reason(s):

Following assessment of the educational profile provided, the qualification meets the minimum required criteria for the applicant to progress to a compensation measure. There are deficits in the qualitative and quantitative elements. This programme therefore does not meet the NMBI/EU Directive 2005/36/EC standards and requirements for direct nurse registration, and a compensatory measure is required.

YOU CAN NOW CHOOSE BETWEEN THE TWO OPTIONS:

- 1) Aptitude Test
- 2) Adaptation Period

1. CHOOSING AN APTITUDE TEST

The Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland (RCSI) coordinates and manages an Aptitude Test for applicants trained outside Ireland. The test is composed of two parts:

- Part 1: Theory or knowledge test or Multiple-Choice Questions (MCQ), which must be successfully completed before part 2 can be attempted
- Part 2: Practical or Objective Structured Clinical Examination (OSCE) test

Please refer to this link for full details on this Test.

The process to complete the test is:

- Complete RCSI's online application
- RCSI will send you a confirmation email with an invitation to the test
- All non-EEA nationals entering Ireland to undergo NMBI compensation measure (Aptitude Test or Adaptation) require permission under the Atypical Working Scheme. Please refer to the link for further information.
- A visa-required national must ensure they have secured both permission under Atypical Working Scheme, and the appropriate visa prior to travelling to Ireland. For information on whether a visa is required, click here.
- RCSI may ask you for a copy of this letter
- (Important: applicants must have commenced their compensation measure on or before the last day of validity of their letter)

Once you complete the test, you can inform NMBI of the result through our online portal here: MyNMBI.

2. CHOOSING AN ADAPTATION PERIOD

You need to successfully complete a supervised placement in an Irish healthcare facility. This is known as an 'Adaptation Period'. A list of approved healthcare facilities is available by clicking here.

The minimum timeframe to complete an adaptation period is six weeks. However, that period may be extended to 12 weeks and beyond if required.

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

When you start your placement, together with your preceptor/supervisor (the nurse or midwife overseeing your placement), the "Competence Assessment Tool" will need to be completed by the hospital. The form can be downloaded from MyNMBI. Once completed, you should upload it to your account on MyNMBI.

When you complete your placement, your director of nursing or midwifery will complete a "Candidate Eligibility Report" (downloaded from MyNMBI) and send it to NMBI by email to confirm the result of your adaptation period.

GENERAL INFORMATION:

- You have 12 months from the date of this letter to start an adaptation period. After that period elapses, your application will be closed.
